Pictures at an Exhibition presents images of one notable show every weekday.

Today's show: "Nene Humphrey: Transmission" is on view at Lesley Heller Workspace in New York through Sunday, February 18. The solo exhibition presents new work by Humphrey, a long-term artist-in-residence at NYU's Center for Neural Science, that "examines ritualized spaces and the products of grief; how the two combine as meditations on muscle memory and the way loss and recovery coexist," according to a press release.
